dynamic membrane formation

Process in which an active layer is formed on the membrane surface by the deposition of substances contained in the fluid being treated.

Source: