

migration

Also contains definition of: bond migration

1. The (usually intramolecular) transfer of an atom or group during the course of a molecular rearrangement.
2. The movement of a bond to a new position, within the same molecular entity is known as 'bond migration'. Allylic rearrangements, e.g.

exemplify both types of migration.

Source:

PAC, 1994, 66, 1077 (Glossary of terms used in physical organic chemistry (IUPAC Recommendations 1994)) on page 1141