

standard subtraction method

in electroanalytical chemistry

A variation of the standard addition method. In this procedure changes in the potential resulting from the addition of a known amount of a species which reacts stoichiometrically with the ion of interest (e.g. a complexing agent) are employed to determine the original activity or concentration of the ion.

Source:

Orange Book, p. 171