

step height

in chromatography

The distance perpendicular to the time or volume axis, through which the baseline moves as a result of a step on an integral chromatogram.

Source:

Orange Book, p. 96